

AMERICAN-SUPPORTED SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS PENETRATE 58 MILES INSIDE THE HOME TERRITORY OF COMMUNISTS

Make Renewed Drive to Within 52 Miles of North Korea's Major Port of Wonsan—Red High Command Strives Under Destructive U. S. Attacks to Rally Forces.

By Howard Handelman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Oct. 4—(INS)—American-supported South Korean troops reached Kosong today, penetrating 58 miles inside Communist home territory in a renewed drive to within 52 miles of North Korea's major port of Wonsan.

On the west side of the peninsula, U. S. First Marine Division forces captured the five-way hub of Uijongbu, 12 miles north of Seoul and 17 miles south of the 38th parallel boundary between North and South Korea.

These fresh successes were scored as the Red high command strove, under destructive American air attacks, to rally its forces for a defense of the Korean Communist heartland, already deeply pierced on the east coast.

The Communists moved large new forces into position for an expected strong defense of their homeland.

On the west side of the peninsula, a fresh Red division and a brigade were thrown into the battle against American marines who nevertheless captured pivotal Uijongbu, 17 miles below the 38th parallel.

Beyond Kosong, South Korean third division spearheads dashed nearly 20 additional miles forward to within 52 miles of Wonsan, major North Korean commanding rail and sea lanes to Manchuria and Siberia.

But an estimated 20,000 or more Communist troops were reported massing in the Wonsan area while on the opposite side of North Korea other Red reinforcements were moving down through the enemy capital of Pyongyang.

The Red troop movements were in progress under intensive punishment by Allied airmen who demolished or crippled 75 enemy vehicles, one tank, seven locomotives and 45 rail cars north of the 38th parallel Tuesday. Indications mounted that the only answer the Pyongyang government would give to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's four-day-old surrender ultimatum would be an attempted protracted defense of the enemy's homeland. The Communists appeared to have considerable reserves, including at least three fresh army divisions, available for such action, despite the enormous manpower and material losses inflicted on the Red invaders in South Korea.

The extent of these enemy losses was further reflected last Wednesday in an announcement by Gen. MacArthur's headquarters spokesman that 25,000 North Korean men and officers have been taken prisoner since the war began last June 25th.

Local Ball Fans

(By "The Stroller")
Baseball fans here are watching to see how long the Phillies picture will remain in that 3rd Ward store window, once the World Series gets under way.

The proprietor is reported to have been moving the picture "in-and-out" of the window in accordance with the winning and losing of games by the Phils.

A Bristol fan was given a call-down during the season when he attended a game between the Phils and the Yankees. As Manager Stengel was walking in the Bristol fan yelled "Take that pitcher out." "You sit down and watch the game," yelled back Stengel.

Yugoslavia also objected, but Australia gave the majority view in demanding that the North Koreans "be utterly destroyed as a fighting force." Australia also indicated a new government should rule a united Korea rather than that the Rhee Government's scope be extended. In India, Prime Minister Nehru warned the United Nations not to let the "military mind" crush the North Koreans and to avoid crossing the line until all other efforts to attain peace had been exhausted.

The Far Eastern Commission, granting the Japanese greater autonomy, directed that most United Nations' nationals come under the criminal jurisdiction of Japanese courts.

Tents Spread Over Heston Manor Farm's Broad Acres near Newtown as Fair is Held for Third Consecutive Year—Cadet Corps Music, Square Dancing, Dog Obedience Demonstration—Fair Continues Today.

(By STAFF REPORTER)

NEWTOWN, Oct. 4—Cattle and farm produce, products of the home cannery and oven, needlework and crafts were judged yesterday when the Middletown Grange 1950 Country Fair opened for its two days' run at Heston Manor Farm, Lindenhurst road, Newtown township. Throughout yesterday and today, the hundreds who visit the site are making their way from booth to booth and tent to tent—looking over the commercial exhibits which range from fertilizer to lightning rods, and from farm equipment to tombstones. The display ran the gamut of practically all things saleable—insurance policies, motor oil, lawn mowers, farm machinery both large and small, household electrical appliances, plastic items, paint, roofing, building blocks, milking machines, grain, trailer-tractors, trucks, sprayers, potted plants, and on to antiques.

Severe Injuries in An Accident Here

OTHERS IMPERILED

Another accident occurred, yesterday afternoon, at a street intersection here, where a campaign has been in progress for sometime by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce for a traffic light. Those in the area have been arguing for a traffic light at the intersection of Green Lane and Farragut avenue and their drive has been backed by the Chamber of Commerce. It is a heavily traveled intersection and it has been the scene of numerous accidents.

It is stated that the crash of yesterday might have been a much more serious one, due to the conditions existing at the time. A heavily loaded truck and a passenger automobile crashed at about 12:50 p. m.

The truck belongs to James D. Morrissey, contractor, of Philadelphia and was driven by Edward F. Quirple, Phila. The passenger car was operated by Mrs. William Levinson, North Radcliffe street.

Mrs. Levinson was driving east on Farragut avenue, crossing Green Lane and the truck was going south on Green Lane. The

STUDYING AT PHILA. COLLEGE

Among the members of the 130th class to enter the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science were Robert E. Bowen, of 343 Garfield street; Edward T. Finegan, Jr., of 1209 Pond street; and Anthony J. Sottile, of 413 Lafayette street, all of Bristol. Bowen, Finegan, and Sottile, all graduates of the Bristol high school, are majoring in pharmacy at the Philadelphia College.

BOY FOR SABOLS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Julius Sabol, of 303 Radcliffe street, in Harriman hospital yesterday.

It was a big day for the Granges of Bucks County when Middletown unit served as host, and just as big a day for their guests from housewives to professional women; from farmers to men in the business world.

Tents were spread over Heston Manor Farm's broad acres; and in many instances open-type stands were used for the display of wares. For 13 hours yesterday people came and went, and today, the final day of the event, the activities will continue from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Features yesterday were the judging of cattle—Jerseys, Angus and Hereford; judging of the farm produce, and of 4-H club projects; and the serving of a baked ham dinner to 600 people; today there will be judging of Holsteins, Ayrshires and Guernseys; and the piece de resistance at the dinner, between four and eight o'clock will be roast beef. Women of the Grange are in charge in that department, as well as of the refreshment stands.

This is the third year for the fair, and those who have been present at the two previous ones have noted the growth each year, with many new features added.

Yesterday was to have marked the harvest of five half-acre strips of corn, but the corn was not ripe enough to harvest. This project is under direction of Robert Kirkpatrick and Herman Heston, Jr., the latter the master of Middletown Grange. Each strip is divided from the other by quarter-acre strips of sod, for the purpose of testing different types of seed corn and different kinds of fertilizer. The seed corn and fertilizer were donated by various dealers and farmers. Another feature this year was the potato project, under direction of Isalah Heston and Norman Tomlinson, who had one acre under their supervision, planted to Katahdins and Green Mountains for the purpose of comparing yield and quality of the two varieties. Both were sprayed and cared for in a similar manner. Some potatoes were dug on Monday, and more this morning, these being placed on sale.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Klerman (Distributed by International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—The Phils feel like a Republican running in a Democratic ward . . . they've got the nomination and would like to keep it that way but the polls are just opening.

This city is more accustomed to political conventions than World's Series but it seems strange to see them hawking three kinds of pennants . . . Yanks, Phils and "Vote for Stassen."

The last time a World's Series was played here we were just feeling the bite of a depression . . . Philadelphia has continued depressed in both leagues since to the present time.

The Athletics brought home league pennants in 1929, '30 and '31 and then got ashamed of their own strength but the Phils have continued modest down the years.

A lot of Dodger fans are in town except those who got off at the wrong station and are now rooting for Jersey City.

Dodger fans naturally are strong for the National League Phils and hope, as always, that their courtesy will be returned next year.

WORLD SERIES SCHEDULED TO OPEN TODAY

By Charles Einstein
INS Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4—(INS)—The all-time champions and all-time non-champions of world series history break open the 1950 classic today with a sad-faced Napoleon from the bullpen carrying Philadelphia's defiant hopes against baseball's mightiest—the Yankees.

Backed by a fantastic record of winning 55 World Series games to the Phils' one, the gray-clad New Yorkers take the field today at 8 to 5 to win the opener and 13 to 5 to win the series.

But when bespectacled Jim Konstanty, inevitable reliever making his first start since he was with Toronto in 1948, trudges to the pitching mound for the Phils at one o'clock (EST) this afternoon, all the horrors of the past will be forgotten.

For these Phils are not the old Phils. They are the Whiz Kids, the flaming youngsters in the peppermint-stick suits, who brought Almost everybody seems to think the Yanks will murder the Phils in the 1950 World Series that starts today—everybody, that is, but the Phils themselves. In the following article, first of a daily series to be written by him exclusively for International News Service throughout the Fall baseball classic, the Phils' star first baseman Eddie Waitkus takes the other tack. The Phils will win it, says Waitkus—and he tells why.

HOW FIT IS FIT ENOUGH?

Present standards for physical and mental fitness are having the effect of rejecting too many men for military service, says General Hershey, conscription chief.
Roughly 50 per cent of all those called for examination have been turned down.

Selective Service, of course, does not set the standards. Each branch of the armed forces does that for itself according to what it believes its men must be capable of doing. Each branch naturally wants to compete with the others for the good men available. Each service would like to maintain the higher standards possible in peace time when not as many recruits are needed.

So far the Navy and the Air Force, in the present ruckus, have not had to depend on the draft.
Voluntary enlistments and reservists called back into service seem to be meeting their needs. But all that could change overnight if the President—under his newly-granted authority—should like the site of their requests for men.

There is every indication that the rate of expansion of all branches is limited only by the training facilities and equipment currently ready—not by the funds available, which are large. There's no quick end to expansion in sight. All the services face the necessity of relying in greater or lesser degree on the draft.

But just now Selective Service is caught between two millstones.
It can draw only from the age-group 19-26. And it must meet physical and mental standards which it says are too high for practical purposes.

This situation results in disturbance unduly a great many men and their relatives, and places a heavy burden on draft boards and medical examiners.

MORE LAMB CHOPS

There will be no fall lamb chops on the market this year.
That is because ewes lamb in the spring and not in the fall. Nature arranged things that way for the wild ancestors of today's domesticated sheep, so that new-born lambs would not have to face winter until they were stronger.

It stands a good chance of being changed soon, though. Science has discovered that ewes can be made to lamb in the fall. Hormone researchers have been injecting a gonadotropin into ewes, whereupon they lamb twice a year instead of once. The time of the extra lambing depends on when the stimulant is injected.

Produced on a large scale, the hormone would cost only 25 cents for each ewe, they estimate. For that sum, the farmer could get two lamb "crops" a year instead of one, for an estimated extra profit averaging $10 or $15 a ewe.
With more lamb coming to market, the consumer could also expect to benefit, through lower prices.

There is more research to be done, to perfect the method, but it shouldn't be many years until fall lamb will be a commonplace on the market.

Mothers of Pupils Honor Dancing Teacher

CROYDON, Oct. 4 — On Friday evening, the mothers of the dance pupils of Miss Patricia Coyne tendered her a surprise shower. The affair was arranged by Mrs. David Huber and Mrs. Hans Scheich, and held at the home of the latter on Excelsior avenue.

Called to the Scheich home to view a new program being presented on television, Miss Coyne found the mothers gathered. A trellis of white crepe paper to which small white bells had been tied with white satin ribbons adorned the archway between the living and dining rooms. Under this had been placed a small table on which rested a "wedding bell" tree, made of white crepe paper bells and satin ribbon.
This "Roots" of the tree were satin streamers attached to gifts. Place cards, bells filled with mints, rested on paper doilies. A prophecy book, made of white satin, contained pictures of various events in the bride-to-be's life. Games were enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream, cakes and candies served. The mothers presented an electric mixer to the honored guest.

George School

GEORGE SCHOOL, Oct. 4—New courses in bookkeeping, printing and typing, as well as increased emphasis upon remedial reading, were academic features reported this week by George School as its 445 students settled into classroom routine for 1950-51 and prepared also to launch the fall sports season on Thursday.

Walton E. Simons of the mathematics department is presenting the new bookkeeping work, and Palmer M. Sharpless, George School head of mechanical arts work, is teaching a small printing class in Halliwell Arts Center using only manual equipment now for lack of power-driven presses. Florence Reynolds, of Newtown, secretary to the principal, is teaching a capacity-size class in typing.

The new emphasis on remedial reading is being given by William T. Thom, 3rd, who did graduate work in that field the past year at Penn State.

Meanwhile, on the playing fields, Coach Eleanor Hess's girls were getting ready to launch their 1950 hockey campaign by journeying to Abington Friends School for a Thursday game, led by Captain Nancy Rockefeller, of Hempstead, Md.

Coach Frank Brown's football team was planning a scrimmage with Council Rock prior to the Saturday opener, at home, against Sanford Prep School, of Hockessin, Del. The Georgians opened their 1949 season with a 32-6 conquest over the light but scrappy Sanford eleven. Game time is 2:30.

Jack Talbot's booters play host to a formidable foe in the soccer opener with Hamilton High, a constant power in New Jersey competition. The home team has had several scrimmages, including a 3-3 tie with Trenton Catholic High, as a tune-up for the Hamilton opener.

The school extended an invitation today to all sports lovers in this area to visit the George School campus and watch home games, starting Saturday. Fall athletic schedules are available by writing or calling Paul Blanshard, Jr., at the school.

Delhaas High School

Representatives to the Delhaas High School Student Council have been chosen by homeroom groups.

The Student Council is a representative school organization which offers an opportunity for pupils to assume responsibilities for the school's welfare. Members are chosen by the pupils. The Council establishes better and closer relationship between students and faculty and increases co-operation in all school activities and educational endeavors.

Membership for this year's Council is: Robert Kaizer, president; Lester Gibbs, vice-president; Kathryn Ostrowski, secretary; Peggy Packard, treasurer. Representatives of the various homerooms follow with alternates respectively: 7-H-8, Diane Priestley, Ethel Deno; 7-H-9, Anna Mae Liszewski, Esther Crawford; 7-H-11, Frank Schwendeman, Gail Kelly; 7-H-21, Vera Schell, Patricia Walsh; 8-H-1, Robert White, Robert Synakowski; 8-H-2, Joan Edwards, Robert DeChico; 8-H-3, Jean Veigel, Marvin Bell; 8-H-4, Wayne Worthington, Jack Matusek; 9-H-10, Johanna Bosco, Joan Anderson; 9-H-15, Eileen Kiling, Shirley Stevens; 9-H-20, Ruth McCurdy, Jack Petro; 9-H-23, James Bustraan, Sandra Bromiley; 10-H-17, Dolores Phillips, Anna Mae Gross; 10-H-18, William Smyrl, Ed Zubrzycki; 10-H-22, Jane Wallace, Gloria Ames; 10-H-24, Jean Millington, Jan Gouza.

The Council meets on Wednesday, fourth period, under the sponsorship of Miss Irene Kochera and Mr. Malcolm Macfarlan.

Superintendent of schools, Warren P. Snyder, stated that a visit he and A. E. Lewis, vice-president of the board, made to Harrisburg to see the State School Authority had been productive of considerable information and that some definite information is expected in the near future.

The school board ordered a study to be made of the athletic set-up in the schools. George Perkins, representative on the athletic council, reported conditions which do not appear to be working out to the satisfaction of the board. A special committee consisting of Perkins, John Dougherty and Carmen Mignoni was named to study the condition and to bring in a complete report at the next meeting with recommendations.

St. Ann's A. A. was granted permission to use the football field this Saturday evening.

The condition of the old historic school building on Wood street was reported by Carmen Mignoni. He told the board that repairs would have to be made at once if the building is to be retained.

The secretary was authorized to advertise the building for rent providing the tenant makes the necessary repairs with the rent to be amortized over a period of years.

The board also approved the recommendation of Mignoni for landscaping at the Bath street building and the making of certain repairs.

Bristol Glee Club was granted the use of the auditorium on January 29th or 27th.

Under P.E.'s expansion program, miles of new transmission and distribution wires are ready to bring power to the homes, factories, and shops that have sprung up by the thousands in this area.

Millions of dollars have been invested in the latest type of transformers and substations to supply power for a growing list of P.E. customers, when they need it, where they need it.

Since World War II, Philadelphia Electric's capacity to generate power will have been increased 75 per cent by 1953. To-day its giant generating plants can produce 1.9 million kilowatts of power.

Philadelphia Electric's $500,000,000
Expansion Program Provides Record Power in Record Time

Your neighbors who operate Philadelphia Electric have a way of breaking records.

Whether perfecting service reliability or preparing for a brighter and busier to-morrow, it's all the same. P.E. teamwork gets things done well and fast.

As an example, take our far-reaching expansion program. Started immediately after V-J Day it was scheduled for completion in 1955 but latest reports indicate all new major electric generating capacity planned will be ready and working in 1953.

With these additions, there will be capacity sufficient to produce 75 per cent more power here than in the last war.

ST. FRANCIS ELEVEN WINS 2ND STRAIGHT GAME OF SEASON

EDDINGTON, Oct. 4.—St. Francis Vocational School's 135-lb. team won its second straight game of the Diamond League yesterday by defeating the Bordentown Manual Training School 135-pounders on the winners' gridiron. Final score was 13-6.

Ambrose Wicks scored both of the St. Francis touchdowns. He scored in the first quarter when the boys of Brother Daniel marched from their 35 to the six-point line. Wicks went over from the 5-yard line. His second score was in the third session when he crashed the line from the 3-yard marker.

The second score started when "Pete" Paulk blocked a kick on the 40 and then two St. Francis players fell on the ball on the 30. A pass, John McGann to Anthony Brown, put the ball on the three-yard line. Gus DeBello failed on the conversion try after the first touchdown but Paulk rushed it over on the second extra point try to bring the St. Francis total to 13.

Paced by fine passing on the part of Ray Clarke, Bordentown moved from their 20 to the St. Francis 25-yard line in the second quarter but did not score until the third session when Levens broke off tackle and cut towards the side-lines to outdistance the St. Francis tacklers. His run was good for 50 yards. Wells failed in his extra point attempt.

St. Francis got as far as the one-yard line of the visitors in the last period but Wicks fumbled and Manual recovered as the game ended.

The Manual Training School's backfield showed up well with Clarke doing some excellent throwing and Levens and Jay some nice ball carrying.

Woman Injured In Auto-Truck Crash

truck struck the Levinson car on the left rear side smashing the body at that point.

The truck then continued over Green Lane and came to a stop against a tall pole of the Philadelphia Electric Co., carrying wires loaded with 33,000 volts. The pole was splintered about 12 feet above the ground.

A large gasoline truck was unloading at the Vandegrift service station on the southeast corner of Green Lane. Those near the scene say that sparks flew due to the impact. Some of those nearby in buildings at the time, dropped to the floors of the establishments fearing ignition of the gasoline by the sparks, with a consequent explosion.

Mrs. Levinson was removed to the Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., by the Bucks County Rescue Squad. It is reported that she is suffering from an injury to her forehead which required seven stitches, a sprained ankle, and that she complains of her spine.

X-rays are to be taken today to ascertain if there are internal injuries.

The truck driver was not injured. Green Lane, over which the truck was operating is a "Stop" street.

BRISTOL TO OPEN HOCKEY SEASON WITH NEW HOPE

With only four veterans back, the Bristol High girls' hockey team opens its Lower Bucks County League season tomorrow, meeting New Hope on the latter's field.

Coach Barbara Yerkes is moulding her team around the four letter-girls of last season who are: Shirley Morrell, Marjorie Gill, Julia Zanni and Joyce Kelly. The girls have elected Shirley Morrell as captain for the season.

Coach Yerkes lost quite a few players by graduation last June, including: Mary Ann Barton, Dot Keers, Jacky Gilardi, Peggy Muth, Fanny Daughtrey, Dot Bailey, Connie Clapham, and Janice Gorton, so most of the candidates are green to the game.

Leading candidates for the squad in addition to the quartet of left-overs from last season are: Charlotte Booz, Joan Meyers, Jane Berthel, Ruth Huet, Jo Ann Graham, Ethel Villas, Katherine Fisher, Pat Waters, Peggy Mount, Elsie Karp, Joan Parr, Lorraine Mullin, Nancy Almond, Martha Snyder, Mary Lattanzi, and Betty Ann Boyd.

Charlotte Booz will occupy the position of goalie while Morrell has been shifted from wing to center forward.

In their opening tilt, the Bristol girls will be wearing the new uniforms purchased by the Mothers' Association. Sweat shirts, also purchased by the Mothers' Association, are expected to arrive next week.

The Bristol lassies will play its regular Lower Bucks League schedule in addition to games with George School and Morrisville.

WORLD SERIES

their fans a pennant where no pennant had been for 35 years. And the Whiz Kids—let no man say different in this town—can do anything.

Can they beat the Yankees' big, 21-game winning Vic Raschi today? Sure they can. You think these fans, fighting for tickets till they soared to an unbelievable $70 apiece in the hands of speculators, are jamming their way into sorry old Shibe Park just to see them lose?

There'll be an overflow 34,000 wedged into the Shibe seats this cloudy day, harbingers of another wedged house tomorrow. When the business moves to New York's monster Yankee stadium for games Friday, Saturday and (if) Sunday, the crowds will jump to 67,000 a whack.

Philadelphia gets the sixth and seventh games, if the best-four-of-seven set goes that far, but regardless of its duration the 1950 event should set an all-time receipts record, thanks to an unprecedented $800,000 hunk for television rights.

Vast audiences totaling almost 50 million will watch the series action on television screens, hooked by the humming coaxial cable, and other millions around the world will hear it on the radio.

But what they could not see or hear was the figure of gaunt old Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion Yanks, blinking his eyes yesterday and demanding: "What? Konstanty?"

Yup, Konstanty, Philly Manager Eddie Sawyer had named a relief pitcher to start the series, in a move not matched for outright shock since Connie Mack, then a naive 66 years of age, pulled Howard Ehmke out of a closet to start against the Cubs in 1929.

"Why," inquired Sawyer, gently, "not?"

And why not, indeed? Here, in Konstanty, is a man who appeared like the messenger of doom, in 74 different games last season. His won-and-lost record was 16 and 7. Is that bad?

The Philly pitching staff, ripped asunder by the loss of Curt Simmons, who will be watching the series from the stands in his newly-acquired army togs, can use an extra day of rest. Back of Konstanty, starting the game tomorrow will be Robin Roberts, 20-game winning righty whose tenning conquest of Brooklyn Sunday won the pennant for the Phils at the final hour, when it seemed they could do nothing right.

For the Yankees, fireballing righthander Allie Reynolds is supposed to work tomorrow's game. They are giving no quarter, these proud Bronx Bombers who have won more pennants—17—and more World Series—12—than any other team in history.

Any man in that lineup—Woodling, Rizzuto, Berra, Jo Di Mag, Big Mize, Platoon Third Baseman Johnson and Brown, Coleman, Mapes or Bauer—can rip a ball game asunder.

But—again that word but—take a look at these Phillies. They have no platoon system. They just have eight guys and the pitchers. Catcher Andy Seminick, a magnificent, bandy baldhead, played in the fewest games of all the regulars—only 130.

Waitkus

Simmons, we have a pitching staff that should be at its best in a short spread like the World Series.

The Series will run six or seven games, I believe, because you have to concede that the Yankees have got good pitching too. The Yankees' Raschi and Reynolds are good fastball pitchers, and a real fast ball can beat you.

You may have heard some people say that the Phillies welcome fast pitching, because we like to hit fast balls. That's a little exaggerated. If a fast ball is really fast, nobody likes to hit it—or, I might say, nobody likes to try.

But we have faced all kinds of pitching this season—real good, fast pitching, like Blackwell and Newcombe give you—and we took the pennant.

There's no question of some of our players not being used to facing certain kinds of pitchers, because we were just about the same batting order all year long, and we saw them all.

You can't say that for a hefty slice of the Yankee batting order, and we may have a few pitching surprises for them.

Robin Roberts and Bubba Church, throwing for us, are a pair of top pitchers. Roberts is as good as any. Church has a honey of a curve ball.

And remember, our whole staff is ready to go. You can have all kinds of sleepers in a short series like this one. Watch for Russ Meyer.

For that matter, speaking of sleepers, watch for a guy named

Jim Konstanty, starting the series for us today. When our skipper, Eddie Sawyer, named Jim as his starter yesterday, I thought of one thing.

The skipper's been calling them right all season long.
